Guest Speakers

- Dr. Alisha Janowsky, University of Central Florida

- Dr. Beth Young, University of Central Florida
The nature of online communication has changed drastically over the past decade. Online work can be social/collaborative as well as individual/independent. How is this shift reflected in the development of blended learning models and practices?
Question 2

What are your top 3 tips for instructors who are thinking of adapting a fully ONLINE course to a blended format?
Question 3

What are some common blended learning pitfalls we should know upfront so we can attempt to avoid them?

Dr. Alisha Janowsky

Dr. Beth Young
Question 4

In your opinion, how much time should the instructor designate to answering questions online? Should the instructor give the students a time frame for when he/she will be online?
What is the trend regarding the amount of face to face time in a blended learning program?
How does one optimize the experience of both online and f2f? Are there certain activities that ideally work better in one format than another?
